Pushed out of shape in the morning:
the routine begins

Motion, momentum.

Contemplation.

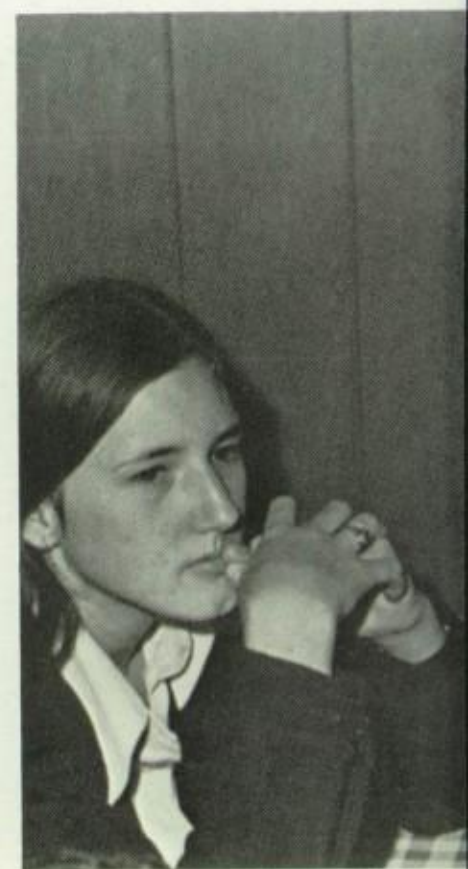

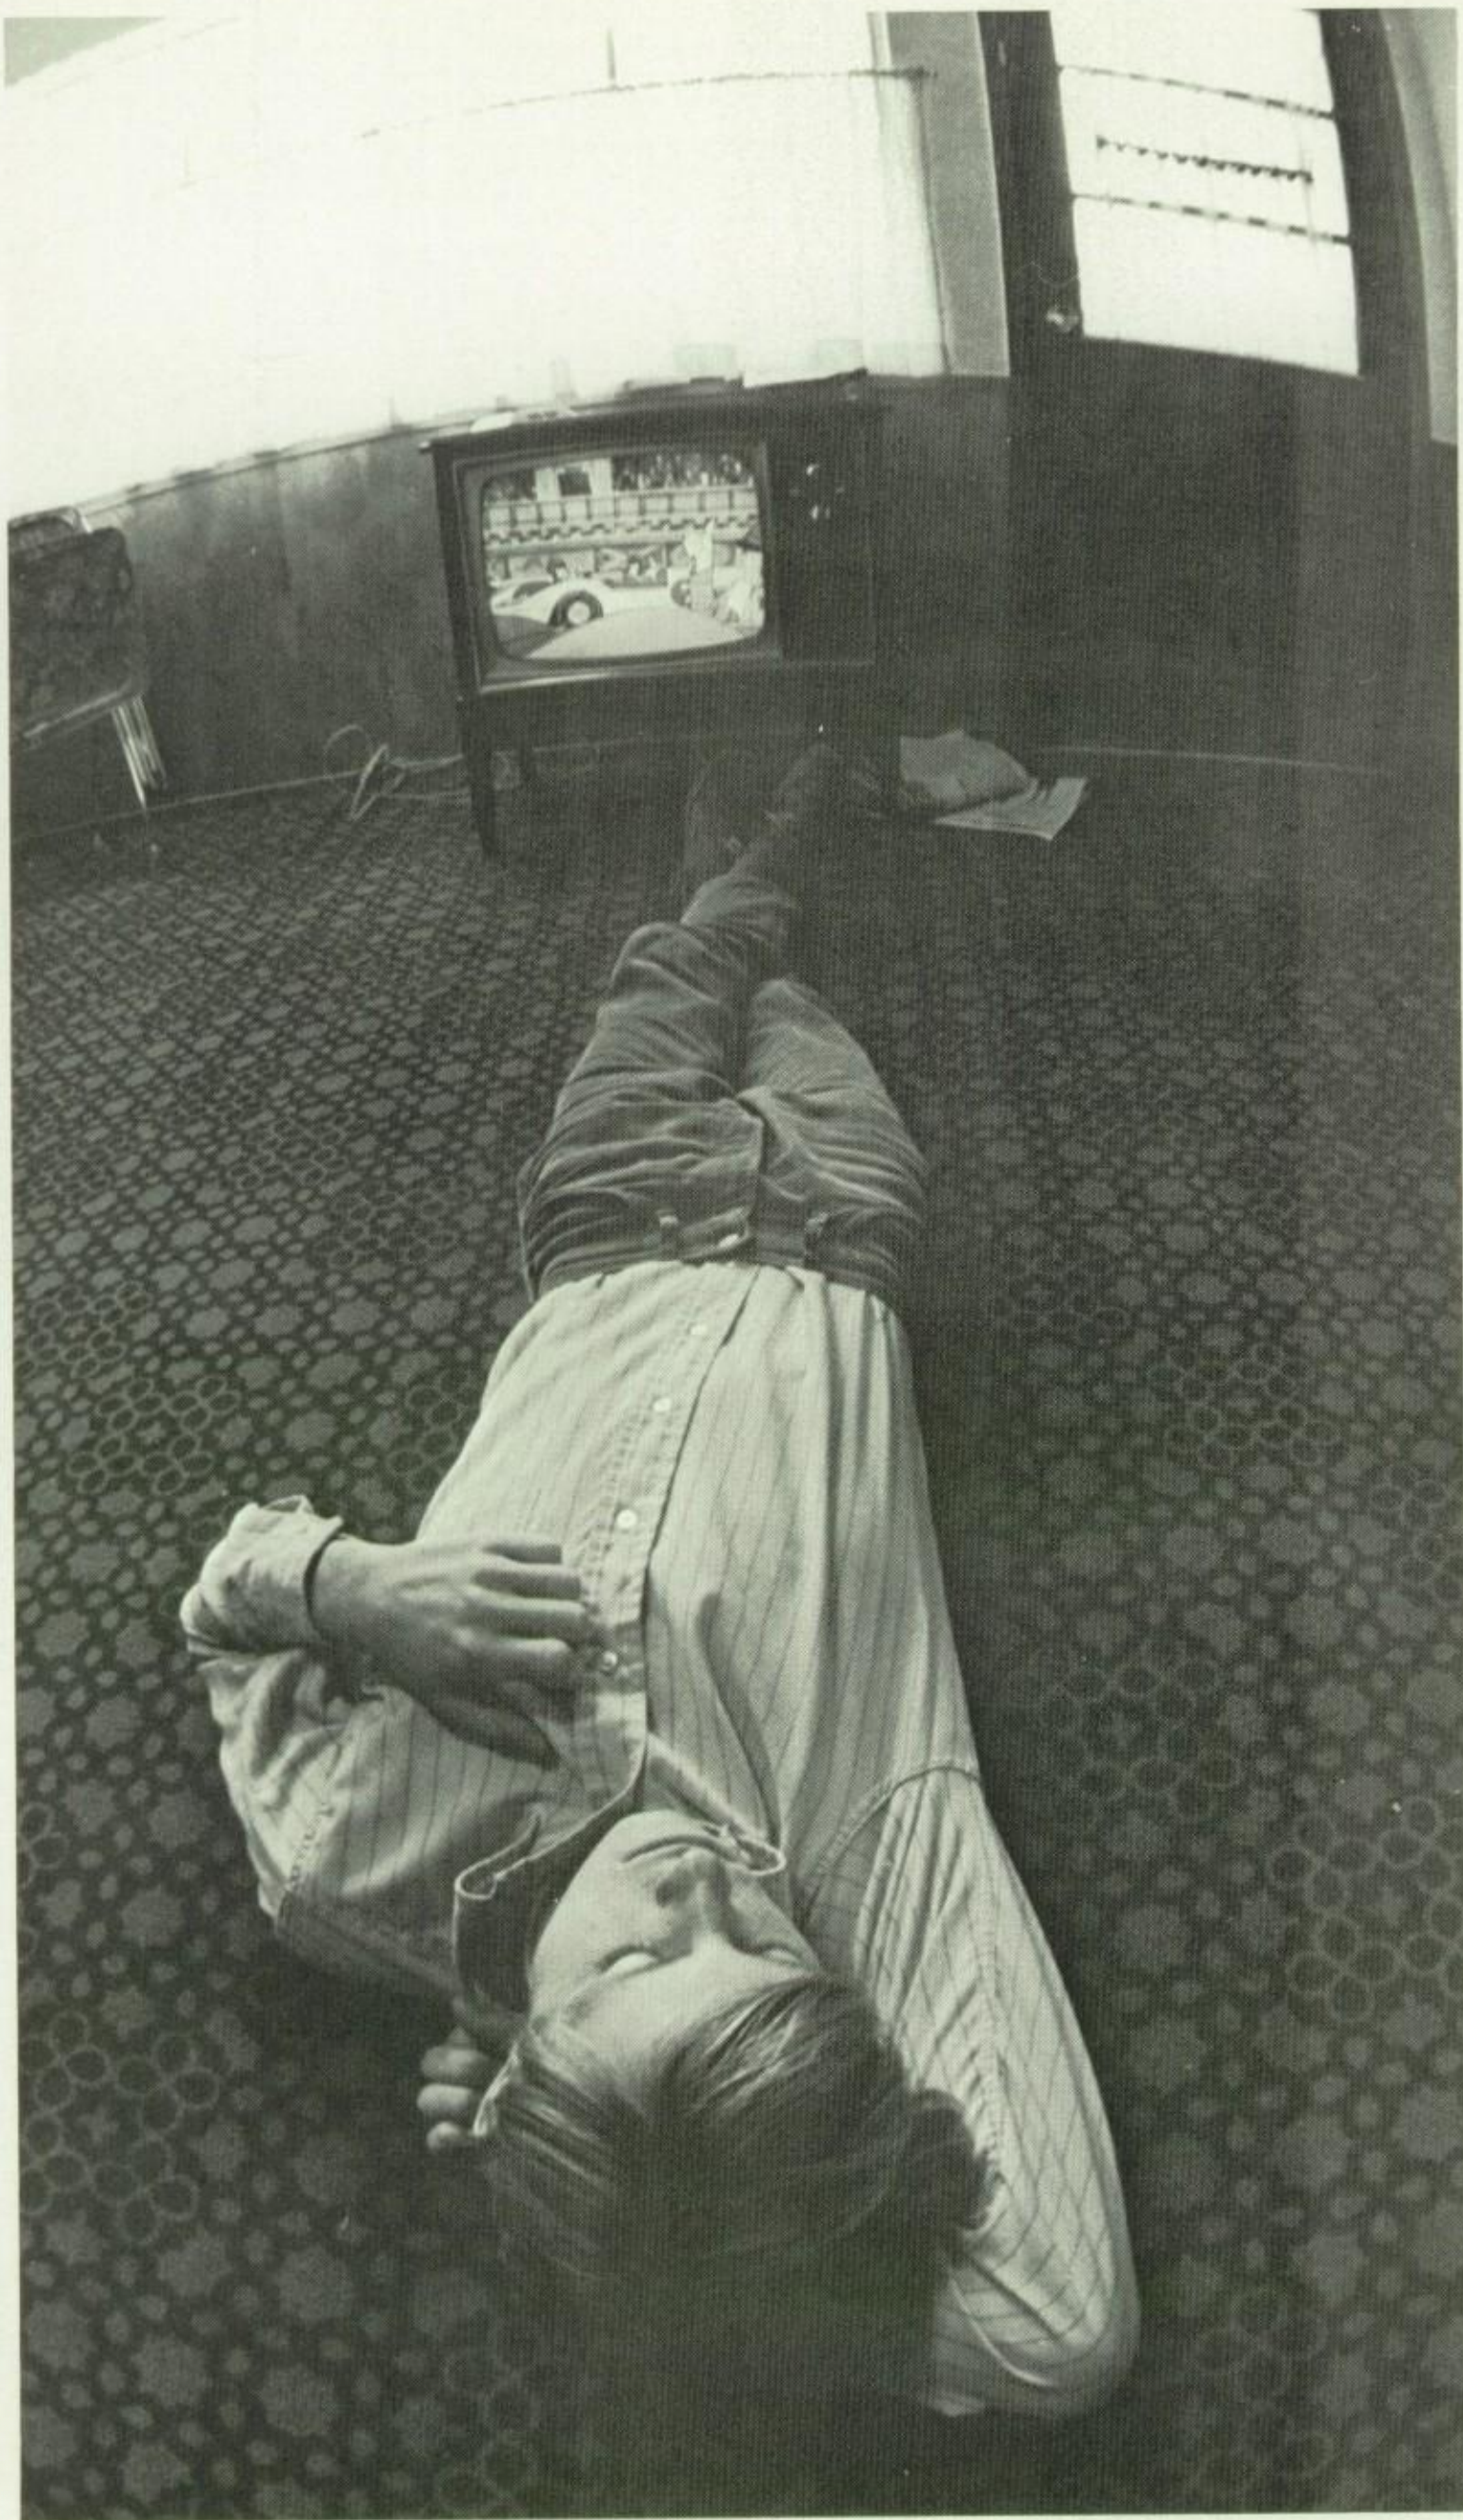

Afternoons:
football games...

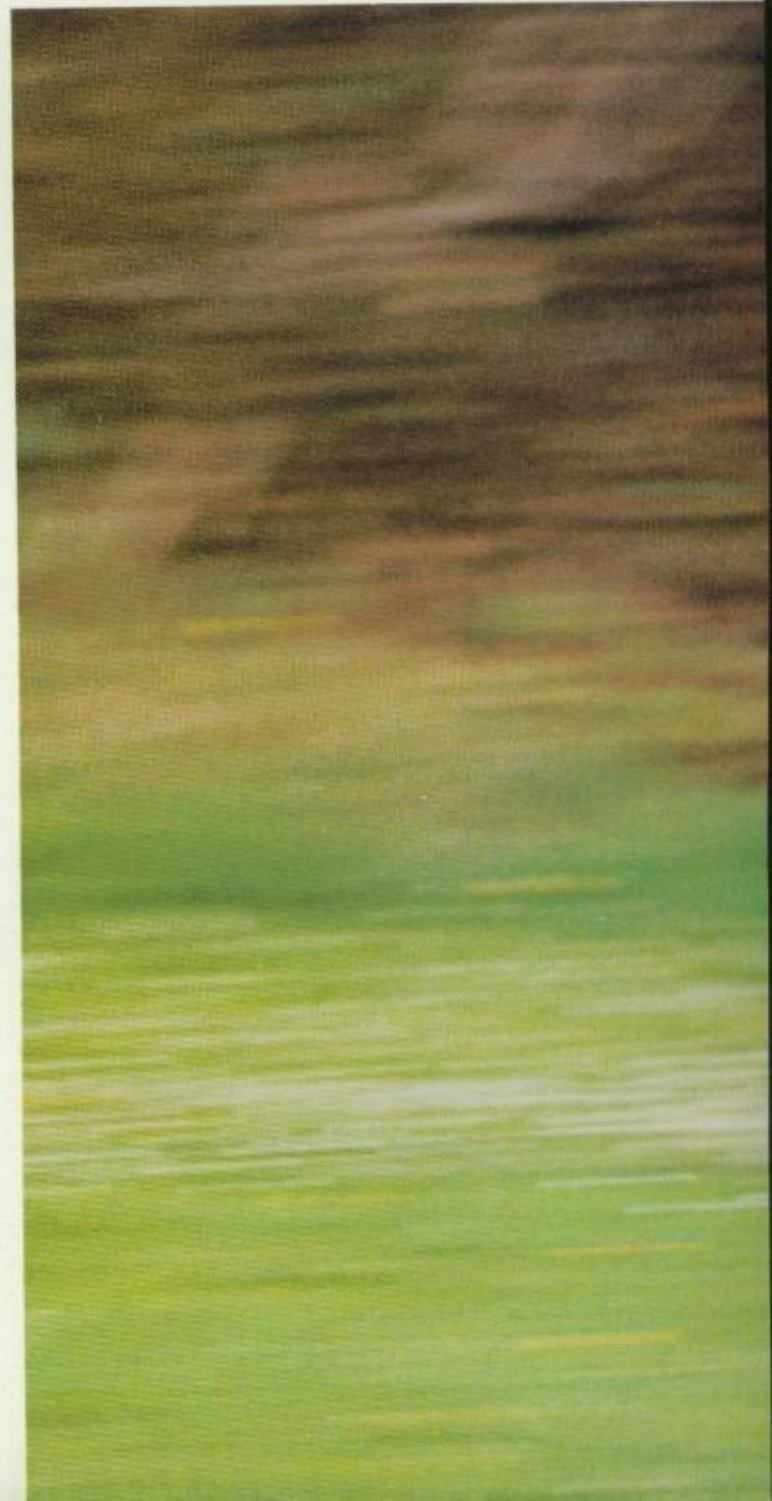

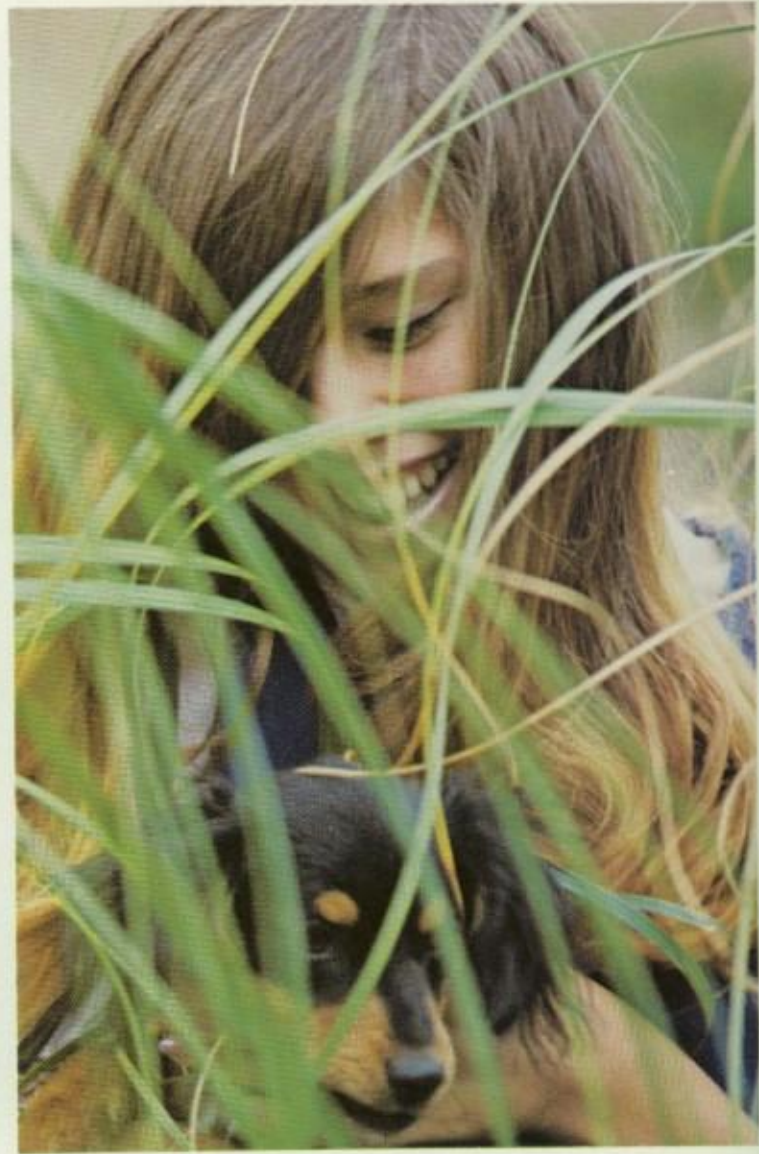

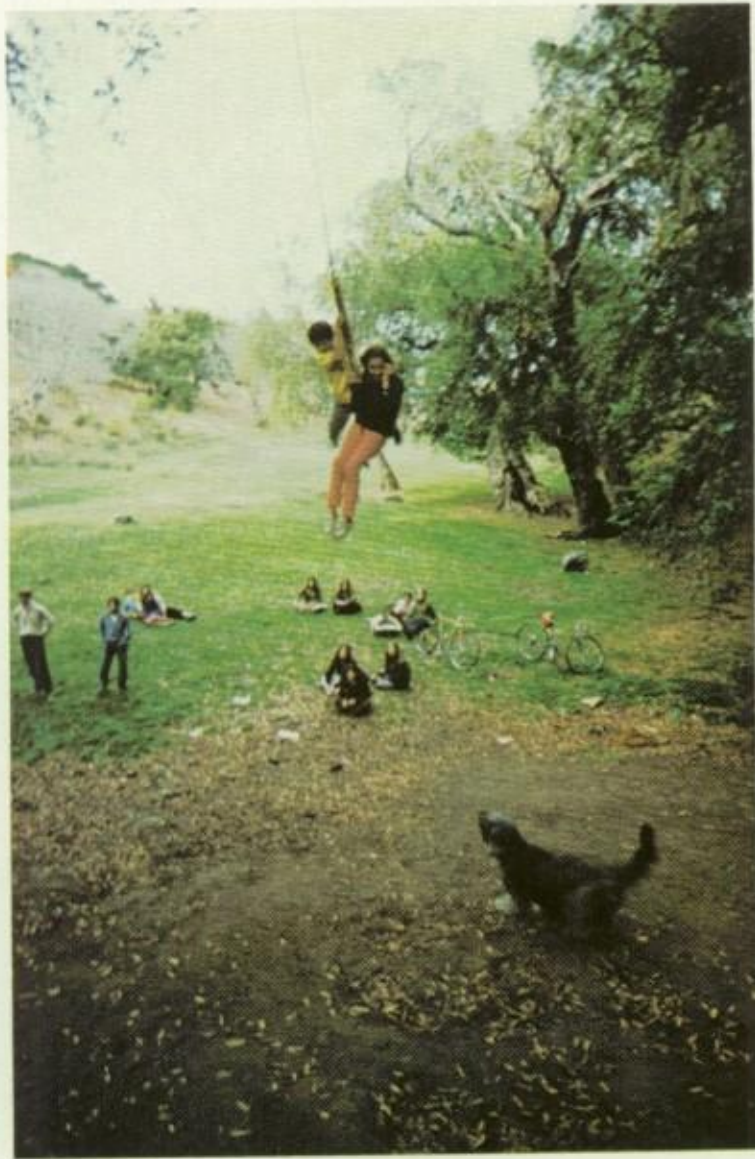

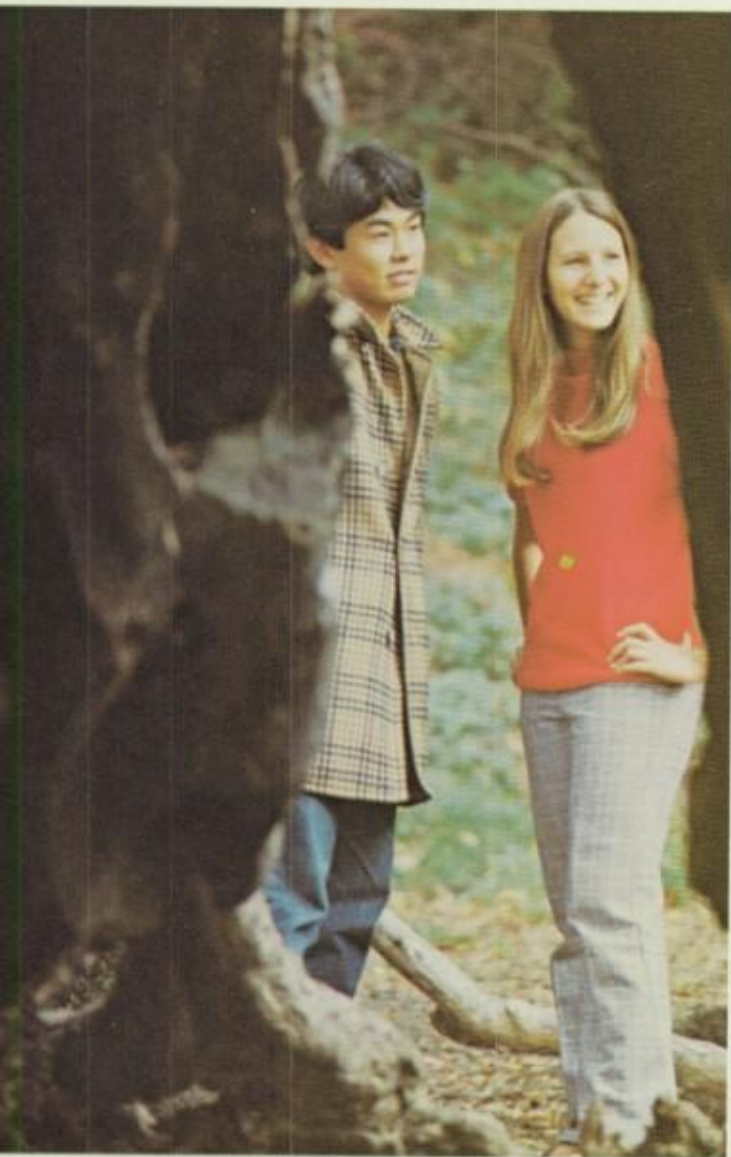

relaxing...

or discovering the freedom of Buckeye.

Music
completes

ACTIVITIES

After a traditional spirit week, Crestmoor concluded the event with the 1969 Homecoming Dance. The couples counted the minutes...and the excitement was topped with the crowning of Miss Kalli Wycoff. The Queens danced and the couples followed with the music provided by "The Sky."

Dear Santa...

1969 wouldn't have been complete without your visit on December 19. The spirit of Christmas was present as couples danced to the music provided by "What's Ever Right." We love you, Santa...see you next year.

Hand

My hand extended in front of me.
I kneel, I stare, fingers blossom
like golden flowers
on European meadows.

The finest thought passed like any other and remembered later.

John Mitchell

America, America!

I've come to a dead end;
and with all my strength
I heave at the iron wall.
But it crushes me flat against the face of reality.
Back at the cross-section,
you stood with a sign in your hand,
"Not A Through Street."
But follow through, I did,
only to find that the sign said right.
It is hard, so very hard to feel the jagged pavement of the road beneath my skin.
My mind seems more to wander with the pain of my speared emotions.

You see, I love you.
That is more than half the agony,
and all the frustration.
I love you.
That is why I am going to die,
right here,
very soon now;
for, while my love is full,
it does not have the help,
the machinery,
the materials,
the know-how,
to take this road and make it free.

Paula Hausak

California

They say you are beautiful, cities and towns.
They say you are grapes and green mountains, cool winewater.
I have heard of your sweet and your golden cities.
Your warm valleys, your chrome temples, red forests, proud people, smiles, skies and simple life, your ocean:
 deep and green and swirling and grey rocks.
I have heard of all of these but I have seen your backside, California.

Cathy Davis

Walk in the Rain

Walk in the rain
shirtless
in the wind
jump with bare feet
on puddles
dash home--electric heater
thaws frozen feelings.
Then days in the park
at the school
near the mountains
put them on a popsicle lick them slowly
the taste leaves quickly leaving a craving for more like Chinese food.

C.O.

Have you Fallen in a Hole, Tom?

Gentle music on waves of air
Rain breaks puddles in time,
Voices sing of love and care
The chorus, winds do chime.

Trees sway lazy to and fro
Loose leaves drift in breeze,
Minds are tossed and confused so Thoughts run wild from tease.

Dreams now traveling this new trip
Pass from pleasant into nightmare,
Dragging memories start to nip
The patterns at which we stare.

Warm winds blow the thought
Designs about your fleeting brain, Trees and purple satin ought Belong not to the sane.

Silver sparkles across your face
Dancing on your nose,
Soft skin wrinkles in its place
Now, gloom

paranoia

grows.

Freedom

Two parakeets in the shop window,
Clothed in happy colours,
Sky blue and grass green.
Not in a cage, but on it.
Climbing over the cage
Using beaks and claws.
Kind people in that shop,
Gave them their freedom.

"Why don't they fly away?"
"They're wings are clipped, see."

Point with a finger, touch the glass, they lunge viciously.
Trying to bite and wound us.
(We're outside, we're free)
Frustrated and sterile.
All birds have are their wings, y'know.
What's a seagull that can't soar?
A hawk that can't hover?
Dodoes died for shame,
And ostriches try to hide and forget.
Take away their wings,
and they have lost their special gift.
Poor apologies for parakeets.

With beady, hungry eyes
They watch our every movement.
Jealous of our freedom. Tormented.
Have you ever thought,
That there was an almost invisible line
Separating you from some people?
And they hate you because you're

On the free side?

I'd rather have my wings whole,
And live in a cage.
At least I'd know I could fly,
If the opportunity came.
I live in no cage, though,
I'm free, man, on the outside looking Free as a bird.

Angela Smith

Rain Bed Mountain

strong rolling sloped curvy mountain, bracken sheets
pine covers hawk wings spread under the pine friends
to warm between the covers,

in our hurry to explore you discover find conquer hold you

we say we belong
as the deer,

deer runs--paths of thought and trample your paths stomp run fall crush cut new paths
leave you bleeding
blazing our trail
till you are dust

Notes From a Mirror

Smiling--new shirt
Proud--new pants
Happy--new smile
I'm ready--open the door
straightening my tie
while clearing my throat
I step into the life
I've heard so much about
I'm ready for all your lies:
They're the kind I want to hear.

C.O.

A Day

All the elements would agree that this day was the worst of the year.
Yet one spark of light shone in her smile and a young vodka heat warmly colonized inside him.
For a mile at least they walked; on the beach,
in the wind, a wind to their own time.
They held their coats tight barring the cold and bringing one nearer the other.

Ocean swam up, back for more, and again.
Fog banks kept them from seeing anymore in the world except the sand and waters taking the sand.
When it came time to take leave, drive home,
they looked, waved at the gray fog,
and left their socks and shoes there, to drown.

Fall Student Government A Message From the President:

Frustration. That is the feeling any president experiences when he attempts to change things. And that is what I felt this year. But now that my term is over I can look back and see that the disappointments and headaches were all worth-while.

The most specific achievement that I can single out is a new direction towards a more educationally rich atmosphere at Crestmoor. The more courses and interesting activities a school has to offer, the more it benefits the students. For example, plans are under way to offer courses in creative writing, film making, and ecology in the near future, and other courses which have been requested by the student body are being considered. This comes as a result of opening up communication between students and the administration.

It now becomes important for the next president and the one after him to continue the idea of improving educational opportunities still further. Unfortunately change does not occur rapidly, but it does eventually come. That may sound optimistically phony, but it really is true. The key is to keep working, and I hope enough people will continue to do so.

SPORTS

The 1969 football season for the Crestmoor varsity was very frustrating and a difficult one for the team. Because we failed to win a game in nine outings it was extremely hard to come back week after week without tasting victory. However, the players never let up in their efforts to win.

The Falcons were led in 1969 by their most valuable player and co-captain, Don Pheil, by outstanding lineman Al Vinson, and by outstanding back and co-captain Dave Thompson. Other seniors who will be missed next year are Art Velasco, Dave Stamer, Jim Garrison, Steve Hornstra, Fred Hoppe, Jeff Miklos, Doug Stacey and Bob Lerma. Other outstanding players on the team were sophs Jim Jarvis and Wright Pierce.

Top rusher on the team was Thompson with 241 yards gained in 79 attempts. Next came Carollo with 220 yards followed by Velasco with 213 yards gained. Jarvis completed 26 passes for 331 yards, while Pheil was our leading pass receiver with 8 receptions and our punter, averaging 39.3 yards on 40 attempts.

Crestmoor's Cross Country finished in 6th place this year. The top runners for the Falcons were Rich Voskes, Mike Paul, Gil Barona, and Paul D'Anna. The highlights of the season were Rich Voske's record on the S.M. course, our first victory ever over Aragon, and Mike Paul's spectacular 2nd place finish in the Frosh-Soph finals.

The 1969 D basketball team tied Capuchino for 5th place with a 4 win & 8 loss record, but lost 4 games by small margins and actually were very close to ending up in 3rd place.

Corky Mrsny, 2nd team all-league, Bill Schmidt, honorable mention, and captain Terry LaPorte paced the team all season.

The 1969-70 Wrestling Team had another spectacular season. At the Gonzalas Invitational, Terry Warfield and Chris Hazen took first with Darrell Hirashima taking second. Team efforts placed them sixth in the tough tournament. Peninsula Invitational at SF State saw Darrell Hirashima take first, Terry Warfield and Bob Littlefield second, and Chris Hazen third.

The team won all six of their league matches, highlighted by their one point victory over San Mateo.

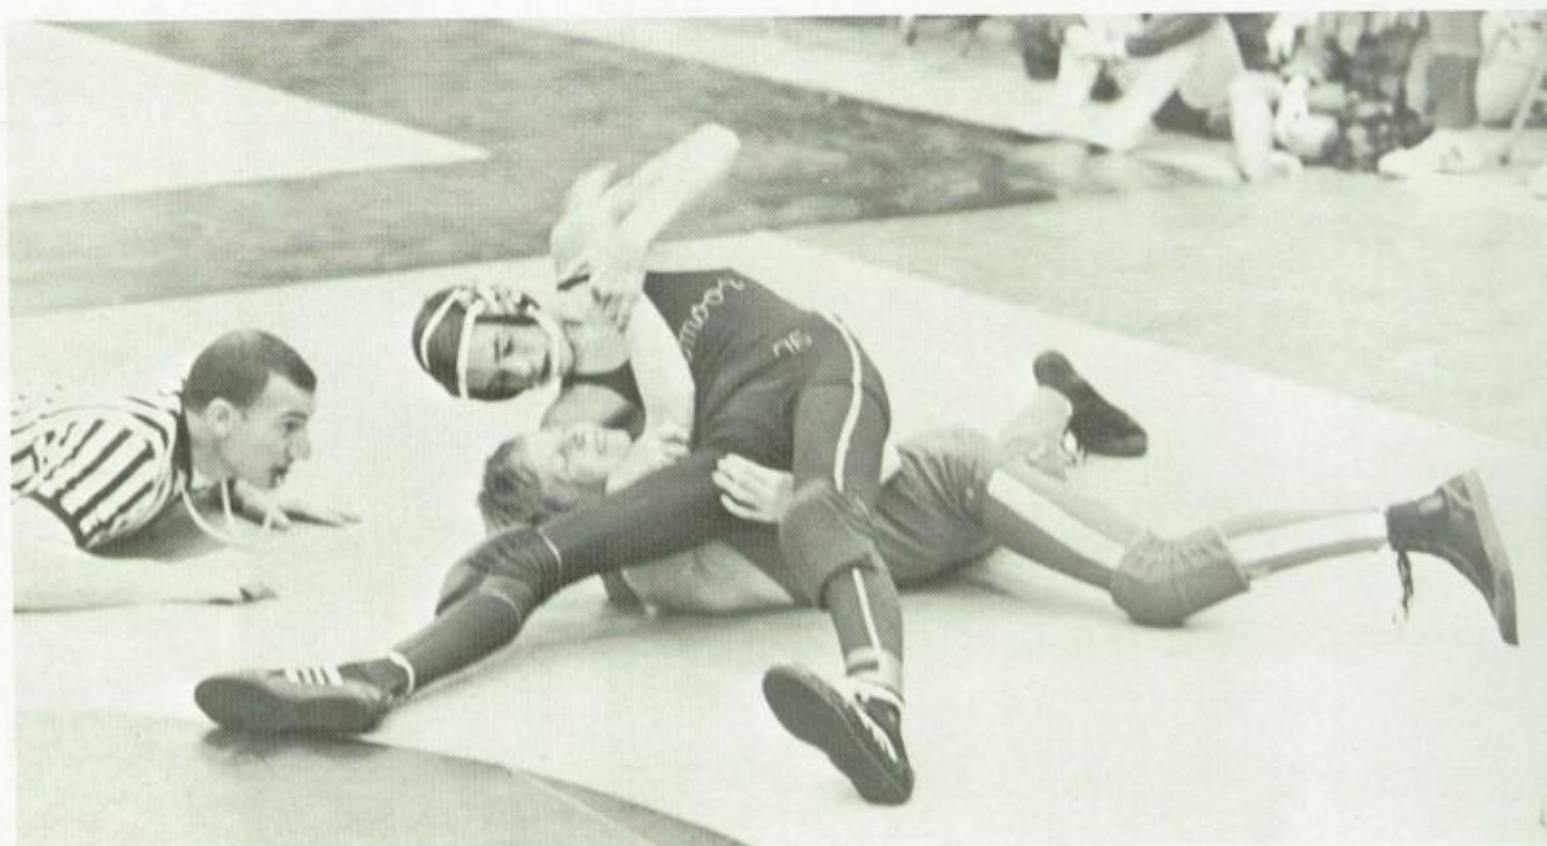

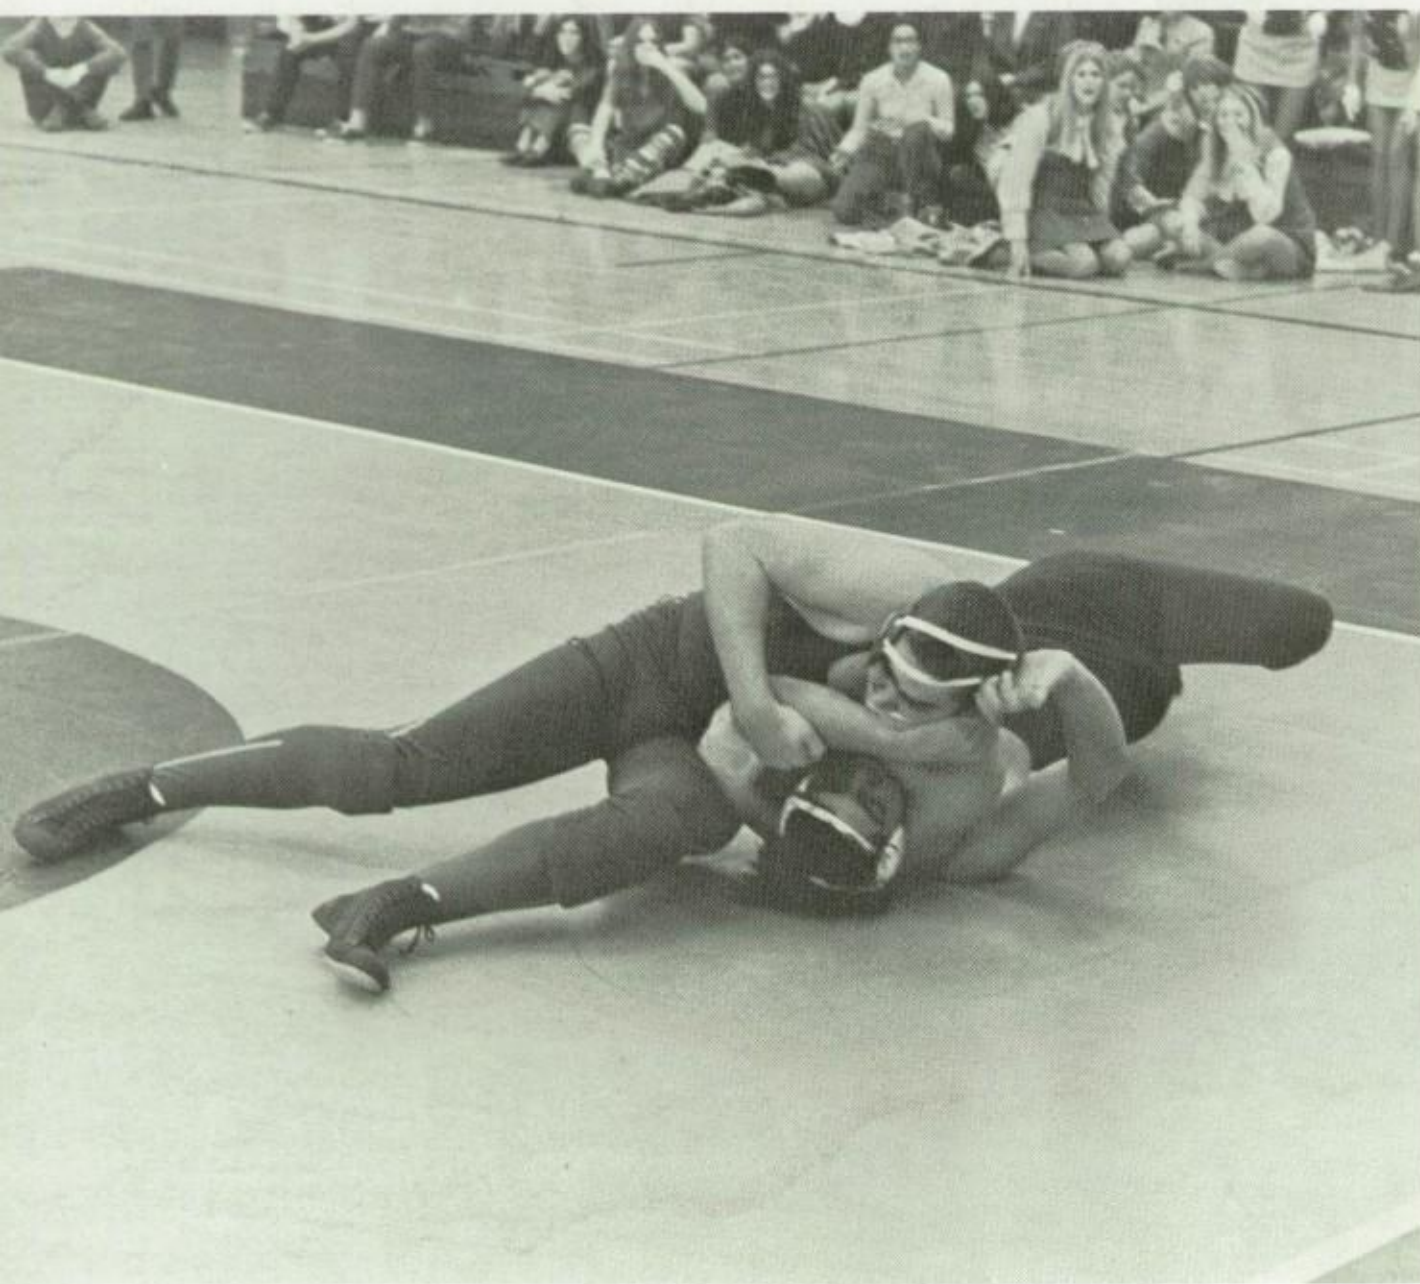

The M.P.L. Finals at Mills High saw Bob Littlefield, Darrell Hirashima, and Chris Hazen taking first, with John Jarvinen, Dennis Schindler, Terry Warfield second, and John Silvera and Dennis Campbell third. Team took second at the tournament, but took the league anyway, by one point.

The Frosh-Soph team also finished first in the league: their season's record was a perfect 12 and 0. Craig Belluomini and Mike Paul both had undefeated seasons.

The Frosh-Soph Basketball team, under the direction of Coach Terry Christman, had more than an impressive season with a 19 and 6 record. The hard team work of most valuable player George Ama, Mack MacCourt, Bob Scholl, Bruce Patterson, Jim Jarvis, Mark Rosekind, and Ron Kohles got them second place in the tough M.P.L.

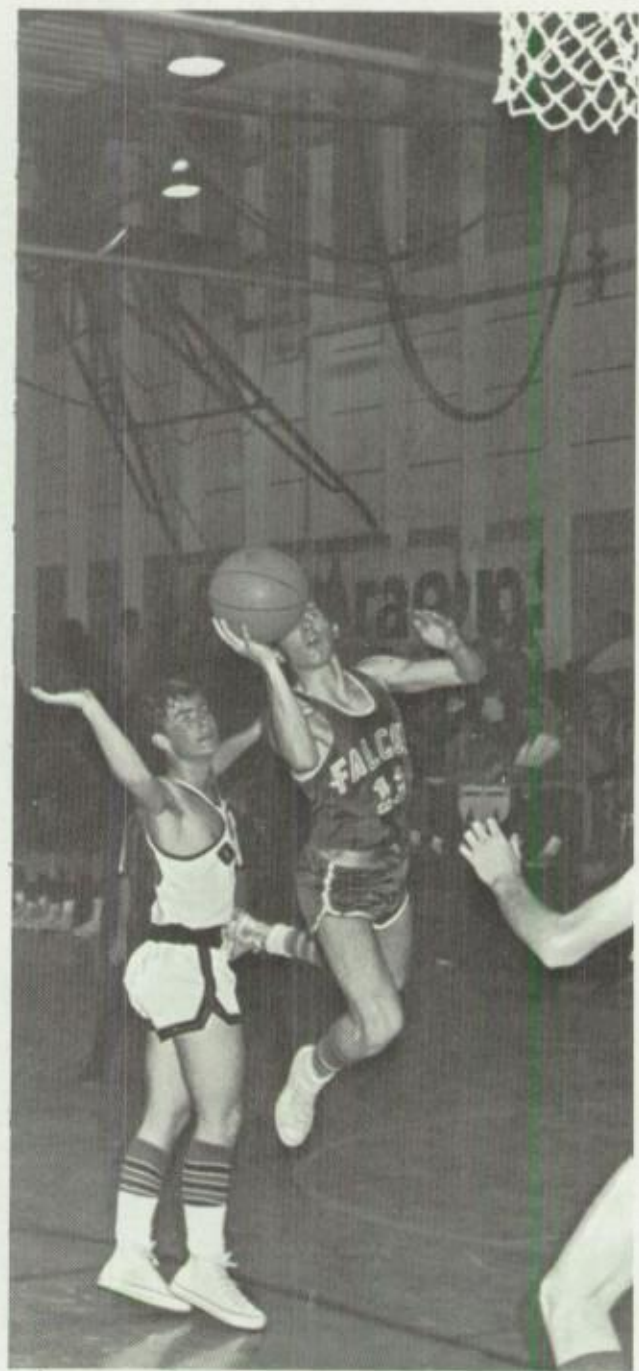

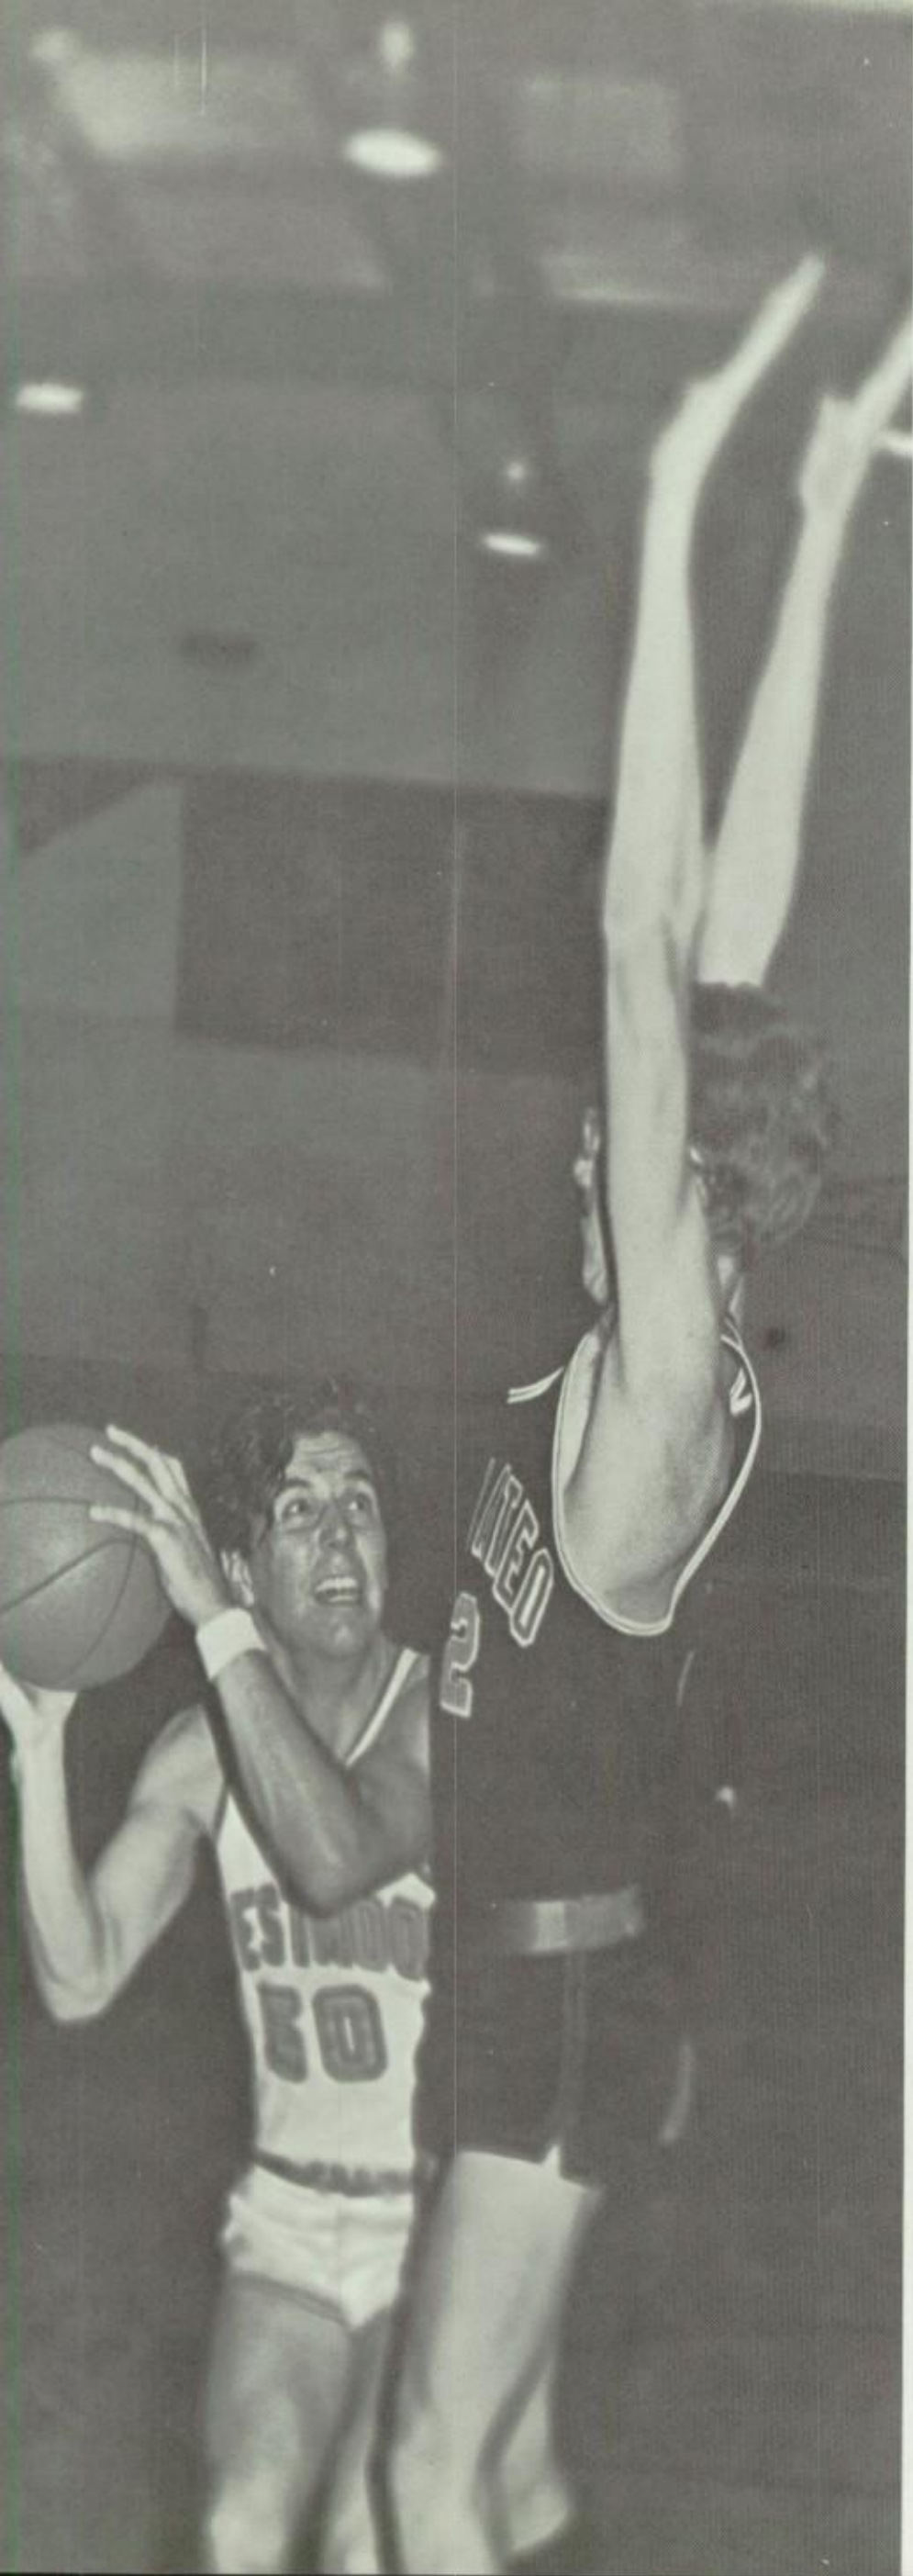

Varsity basketball fell short this year in their efforts to achieve a winning season. Victories over Terra Nova and El Camino were the only highlights of an otherwise disappointing year. However, six of our losses were by five points or less.

Fine efforts were turned in by leading scorer and captain Nick Zavala and by the team's most valuable player, Ralph Bingham. Dan Cox, Doug Stacy, Harry Rapa, Jerry Barclay and Mark Spacher also had respectable seasons.

Crestmoor is starting its third season with a veteran team headed by three year varsity letter winners John Nicolaou and Gary West. Mike Taylor and Mike Hodge round out the returning letter winners. The two remaining varsity spots will probably be filled among the following JV men, Steve Fenech, Clay Minter, Greg Pallotti, Curtice Potter or Mark Oldham. Gary Mason and Jack Palm are returning team members who have improved greatly and are working their way up the team ladder.

Veteran Larry Smurthwaite along with newcomers Len Frow, Jay Pustay, Gary Young, Don Babcock, Jim Price and Bill Goff are fighting hard for a place on the 14 man squad. The final cut will be made March 31st. after 4-9 hole qualifying rounds. Freshman Jeff Hampton, Jack Dorian and Jim Stevenson are fighting for the 2 spots reserved for freshman on the team.
